Introduction

WHAT IS PACER?

The Public Access to Court Electronic Records allows public to get access to the District of Alaska's computer system for information retrieval. The system will provide you with information on cases filed in the Anchorage, Fairbanks, Juneau, Ketchikan & Nome offices. You can also look up case information, court calendars and attorney information.

For billing and support inquiries contact the PACER Service Center in San Antonio at 800-676-6856.

SETTING UP YOUR MODEM TO ACCESS PACER

Call into the District Court computer system via a terminal or a PC with communications/terminal emulation software. The phone number is:

(888) 271-6212

Data rate:	9600 bps
Data format:	8-N-1
Terminal Emulation:	VT-100

NOTE: Any VT-100 terminal emulator can be used. Procomm, Crosstalk, Smartcom, and Windows Terminal can be used, in VT-100 emulation mode. When using VT-100 mode, the first thing to do is issue <ESC><T> so you can see the top menu line on the screen. For ESC, Alt or Function keys, refer to the VT-100 emulation escape sequences chart:

WHAT PACER CAN DO FOR YOU?

Public Access to Court Electronic Records (PACER) allows you to get access to the District Court's Alaska Case Query System. PACER is a computer software tool for the storage and retrieval of case information. PACER is a primary source for docket, case management, and calendar information. PACER has been designed for quickness and ease of use, with popup menus windows. Colors on the screen help the user to quickly identify and distinguish information. The system was designed primarily for use with a keyboard. Report facilities have many options, including on-screen viewing, printing to a printer, or output to your fax.

HOW TO MOVE AROUND IN THE SYSTEM

PACER presents case information in a variety of ways, tailored to the task at hand. There are four basic elements you will come to recognize: the popup menus, lists, and data entry windows. Popup menus provide a vertical list of options to select from. (See the glossary in Appendix B for an explanation of any computer terms you do not understand.) Lists are lists of data, such as case numbers, party names, or motions. Data entry windows have instructions and blank areas, prompting for new information to be entered or allowing for information to be changed. When encountered anywhere within PACER, each of these four elements responds consistently to certain keystrokes, which are described below. A summary of keystroke commands is in Appendix A for quick reference.

NOTE: This documentation will attempt to refer to special keys by presenting a graphic representation of the keyboard key itself, such as A for the A-key and Enter for the Enter key. Combination keystrokes, such as Esc 0 I refer to the sequential action of pressing the Esc key then the 0 key and then pressing the I key.

The most frequently used keys in PACER are Esc 2 and Esc Esc. Esc 2 is used to start or continue a process. Esc Esc is used to cancel or end a process. To end PACER, disconnect your modem when you are done.

Navigating a Popup Menu

In most areas of PACER, often as the result of selecting a popup menu item, a popup menu with a list of options from which to choose will appear. Selection of popup items is done by pressing the hot key for an item, or by pressing ↓ or ↑ to position the selection bar over the desired item and then pressing Enter. Pressing Esc Esc exits the popup with no selection being made. In some cases, a chosen popup item will cause yet another set of popup options to appear; a popup item with a black triangle (▼) to its right indicates that if this item is chosen, another popup will appear.

Navigating a List

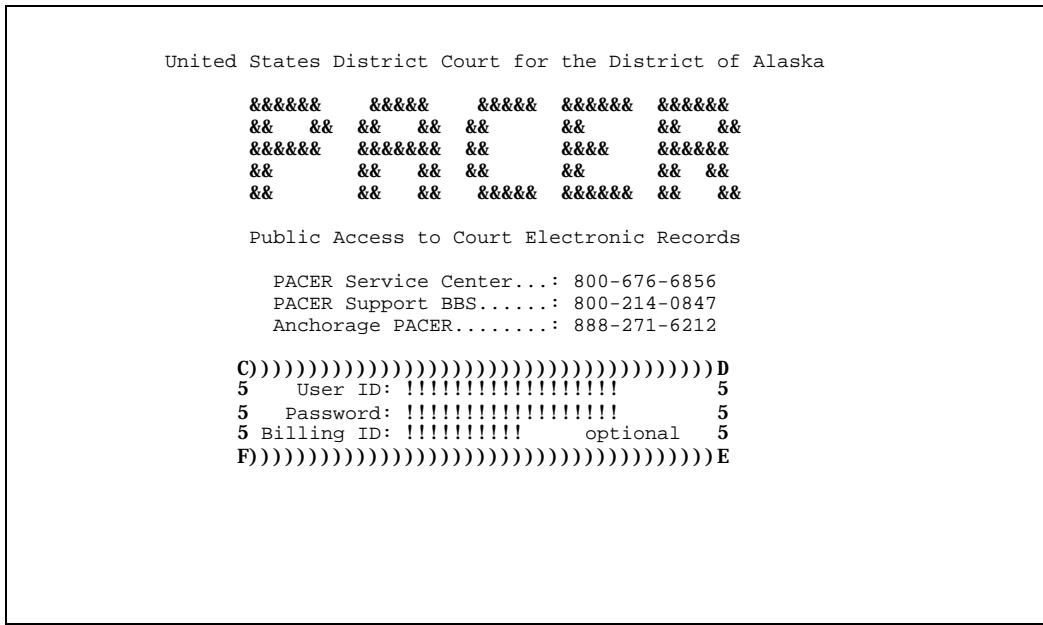

PACER often presents information in list form; for example, the list of all civil cases in the system, a list of parties filing a document, or a list of motions in a case. A list is active when information is shown in a window and the cursor is blinking somewhere in the list, usually in the first column. One item in the list is highlighted, showing it is the currently selected item. To change the current selection, press ↓ or ↑ to move the highlight down or up in the list. If you are at the first or the last item in the list, a message may appear in the upper right corner of the screen to let you know. Usually, pressing Esc Esc will exit a list without moving forward to the next action.

Navigating a Data Entry Window

Data entry windows are used in PACER for such functions as finding a particular case, specifying report parameters, or manipulating the Court Calendar. In a data entry window, when data is being edited or entered, the cursor can be moved forward or backward from field to field by pressing Tab or ← respectively. Pressing the Esc Esc saving any new information that has been entered. Pressing Esc 2 starts the data storage process.

PACER Main Screen

The Main screen is available when you first connect to PACER.

Enter the User ID, Password and the optional Billing ID as requested. If you need to open an account, please contact PACER Service Center at 800-676-6856. The PACER Support BBS is available to registered PACER users.

Next the screen will show the available menu options on PACER.

Note the menu choices for the PACER main screen: Civil Case List displays a list of Civil Case, Criminal Case List displays a list of Criminal cases, Court Calendar provides access to Court calendar, Party name search locates the name of the party you are looking for, Case number search, Case list by filing date locates the cases with the filing date you are looking for, Utility menu allows you to change your password and Disconnect/end billing will end the PACER connection. Select a number accordingly.

Civil Cases

Civil case information includes coversheet data from the JS-44 Civil Cover Sheet filing form, as well as docket entries, party and attorney information, and case management schedules and notes (if case is not sealed). Civil case management tools include lists and individual descriptions of cases, docketed events, parties, attorneys, calendar for that specific case, and the docket sheet report.

Access to this wide array of information begins with the Civil Case list. To access the Civil Case list, select Civil Case list at the PACER main menu.

When Civil is chosen, the list of civil cases appears on the screen, in case number order with a pop-up window to ask you to enter the case number. Enter the case number if you know it or press Esc Esc to see the listing as follows.

Information for each case displayed in the Civil Case list includes a case number, short title, date filed, date closed, and the assigned magistrate judge, if applicable. Due to screen size limitations, the closing date and magistrate judge fields are not in view initially. Press ← or Tab to shift the fields right or left in the window. (To restore the window to its original appearance, press Tab until Case Number is in the leftmost column.)

Press the [↓] or [↑] key to move down or up through the list one case at a time. Press Esc N (PgDn) or Esc P (PgUp) to move through the list a window at a time; a page is equivalent to a window. It is also possible to move directly to a particular case, using the Find another case function explained below.

To use the Civil Case list, move through the list to highlight the case you want to work with, then press M to activate the menu and choose which aspect of the case you would like to work with.

VIEW INFORMATION FOR THIS CASE

Docket entries and case management information are available from the Civil Case menu choices: Go to the Docket List for this case, Go to the Party List for this case or Go to the Calendar List for this case, respectively, which will be discussed in later chapters. PACER also provides other information about cases, from the JS-44 Civil Cover Sheet. To access this information, highlight a case in the Civil Case list. Press M for the menu and select 1. View information for this case. The VIEW CASE INFORMATION window appears on the screen.

PRINT A DOCKET SHEET

The Docket Entry List menu choice number [6] is used to print the docket sheet. A full docket sheet consists of basic case information, a list of parties and attorneys, and the list of docketed events.

To print the docket sheet for a case, highlight the case in the Civil Case list, press [M] to activate the menu then choose [6] Print a Docket Sheet. Or, from the Docket Entries list, press [M] to activate the menu then choose [6] Print a Docket Sheet; you are already working with a specific case.

Select Docket Sheet to display the Docket Sheet information window.

Press Tab to move from field to field among the report options. Use [↑] or [↓] key to highlight the option and hit Enter to select. The complete docket sheet report has two parts, either of which may be omitted; the first part is a list of parties and their attorneys, the second part is the list of docket entries. A docket entry starting date and/or ending date is optional; leaving the dates blank will allow printing of all docket entries. You may view the report in a window on the screen before printing it (or instead of printing it) by selecting the report destination. When the desired parameters are selected, press [Esc] [2] to generate the docket sheet, or press [Esc] [Esc] to cancel the report and return to the Docket Entries list.

If you choose to view the report before printing, it will appear in a window on the screen.

Since it is designed for a sheet of paper larger than the screen, the full report will not be visible in the window. Use [↑], [↓], [Esc] N (PgDn), and [Esc] P (PgUp) to move around in the window. Press [End] to move to the end of the current line, and [Home] to move to the beginning of the current line. Press [Esc] C E (Ctrl End) to move to the end of the report, or [Esc] C H (Ctrl Home) to move to the beginning of the report. If you do not need to print the report, press [Esc] Esc to return to the Docket Entries list.

To print the report, press P then select the appropriate printer option.

If you select 'Your Laser Printer' or 'Your Text Printer' option, the report will be printed on your personal printer.

If the report is going to be printed in a court printer, a box will pop-up on the screen with the total page count, cost per page and the total cost to print the page(s). The system will also prompt for your name. Please type in accordingly.

Docket Sheet

PACER provides docket sheet information for viewing or printing. Docket sheet information includes judicial officers involved, parties and their attorneys, and docket entries identified by document number, filing date, and descriptive text. A docket entry is comprised of one or more "docketed events". For example, the filing of an order is a single docket entry, but the one order may initiate several different actions, each considered a separate event. Each docket entry has a two-part document number, the first part representing the docket entry, and the second part representing the individual events within the entry.

To access docket entries for a case, press [M] for the menu selection and select [1] Civil case list.

The Docketed Entries list includes the following fields:

Filed

Date the document was filed.

Docket Number

10-character hyphenated document number. A docket number has two parts, separated by a hyphen: first is the primary 4-digit entry number, which may be followed by a single letter if needed to retain the proper sequence of entries, and a secondary 4-digit event number to uniquely label each event within a docket entry comprised of multiple events.

EXAMPLES: 94-1, 94-2, 94A-1. Docket entry 94 is comprised of two distinct events, the first denoted as 1 and the second as 2; document 94A is a separate docket entry, consisting of a single event.

Docket Text

The first line of a virtually unlimited length description. The first four lines of docket text appear in a window at the bottom of the screen. A menu option,  View the docket text for the current document, is available to access the complete text, if the text of the entry is larger than the window.

Note the menu choices for the Docket Entries list on the screen: Go to the Party List for this page is used to see the parties involved in the highlighted docket entry or in the whole case. Show parties related to the current document is used to see all the parties involved to one specific document. Show documents related to the current document is used to show docketed events related to the currently highlighted docket entry. View the docket text for the current document is used to get an expanded view of the docket text. View information for this case provides access to coversheet information and to docketing and case management notes. Print a Docket sheet is used to print or view all or part of the docket sheet.

GO TO THE PARTY LIST FOR THIS CASE

A list of parties involved in a case or in a particular event is available while in the Docketed Entries list. Press M for the menu. A menu popup window will be displayed allowing you to choose all parties in the case, or those related to the highlighted docket entry. If you select Go to the Party List for this case, you will get a list of all parties who filed in the case.

Press "M" for the Menu, press "Q" to Quit.

The fields displayed in the Party list are:

T

1-character code to indicate terminated from case. T means this party was terminated from the case. A blank means this is an active party in the case.

Type

3-character code for party type. Party types include:

PLF	plaintiff	AEE	appellee
DEF	defendant	CLM	claimant
3PP	third party plaintiff	AMC	amicus curiae
3DF	third party defendant	UBR	upset bidder
DII	defendant in intervention	SMA	special master
PII	plaintiff in intervention	DIS	disclaimer
APN	appellant	WIT	witness

Number

4-digit party number. Parties are assigned unique numbers within type as they are entered in the case, numbered sequentially from 1.

Party Name

60-character party name. In an alphabetical listing by name, the list is alphabetized by the first characters of the 60-character field; if a person's name was not originally entered last name first, it will not appear in the list alphabetically by last name. Only 31 characters at a time will show. To display beyond the first 31 characters, move the cursor to the Party field using [Tab]. Then press [→] to move to the right within the party name. Press [Home] at any time to return the cursor to the leftmost characters in the party name.

The default order for the Party list is all plaintiffs listed sequentially first, then all defendants, and then each of the other party types. When there are many parties in a case, it may sometimes be more useful to list the parties alphabetically by name, or alphabetically by type. To change the list order, press [M] to activate the menu bar, choose [4] Change the way the party list is displayed, and then choose the desired ordered from the list.

To see the parties related to the highlighted entry in the Docket list press  for the menu, select  Show parties related to this document. If related parties to the current document highlighted entry are found, their name will be listed.

SHOW DOCUMENTS RELATED TO THE CURRENT DOCUMENT

When viewing a case, it may be useful to see if any oppositions or replies have been filed. The oppositions and replies are considered "related" or "linked" documents to the motion. The menu choice Show documents related to the current document of the Docket Entries list provides access to a list of related documents.

To see related documents, highlight the case you want to work with in the Docketed Entries list. Press  to activate the menu bar and choose  Show documents. If related documents to the currently highlighted entry are found, their docket entries will be listed.

If no related documents are found, a message will appear on the screen.

If the docket text, a field of virtually unlimited length, is larger than the DOCKET TEXT window, the window may be enlarged, or "zoomed" so you may see as much text as possible on the screen. To enlarge the window, press M to activate the menu then choose 4 View the docket text for the current document.

You may use Esc N (PgDn) and Esc P (PgUp) to scroll through the complete docket text. Press Q to return to the Docket Entries list.

VIEW INFORMATION FOR THIS CASE

By selecting the View information for this case option, it provides the coversheet information and the docketing and case management notes.

PRINT A DOCKET SHEET

The Docket Entry List menu choice [6] is used to print the docket sheet. A full docket sheet consists of basic case information, a list of parties and attorneys, and the list of docketed events.

To print the docket sheet for a case, highlight the case in the Civil Case list, press [M] to activate the menu then choose [6] Print a Docket Sheet. Or, from the Docket Entries list, press [M] to activate the menu then choose [6] Print a Docket Sheet; you are already working with a specific case.

Select Docket Sheet to display the Docket Sheet information window.

Press [Tab] to move from field to field among the report options. Use [↑] or [↓] key to highlight the option and press [Enter] to select. The complete docket sheet report has two parts, either of which may be omitted; the first part is a list of parties and their attorneys, the second part is the list of docket entries. A docket entry starting date and/or ending date is optional; leaving the dates blank will allow printing of all docket entries. You may view the report in a window on the screen before printing it (or instead of printing it) by selecting the report destination. When the desired parameters are selected, press [Esc][2] to generate the docket sheet, or press [Esc][Esc] to cancel the report and return to the Docket Entries list.

If you choose to view the report before printing, it will appear in a window on the screen.

Since it is designed for a sheet of paper larger than the screen, the full report will not be visible in the window. Use ↓, ↑, Esc N (PgDn), and Esc P (PgUp) to move around in the window. Press End to move to the end of the current line, and Home to move to the beginning of the current line. Press Esc C E (Ctrl End) to move to the end of the report, or Esc C H (Ctrl Home) to move to the beginning of the report. If you do not need to print the report, press Esc Esc to return to the Docket Entries list.

To print the report, press [P] then select the appropriate printer option.

If the report is going to be printed in a court printer, a box will pop-up on the screen with the total page count, cost per page and the total cost to print the page(s). The system will also prompt for your name. Please type in accordingly.

The Party list includes the following fields:

1-character code to indicate terminated from case. T means this party was terminated from the case. A blank means this is an active party in the case.

Type

3-character code for party type. Party types include:

PLF	plaintiff	AEE	appellee
DEF	defendant	CLM	claimant
3PP	third party plaintiff	AMC	amicus curiae
3DF	third party defendant	UBR	upset bidder
DII	defendant in intervention	SMA	special master
PII	plaintiff in intervention	DIS	disclaimer
APN	appellant	WIT	witness

Number

4-digit party number. Parties are numbered sequentially from 1, unique for each type of party, as they are entered in the case.

Party Name

60-character party name. Only 31 characters at a time will show. To display beyond the first 31 characters, move the cursor to the Party field using Tab. Then press → to move to the right within the party name. Press Home at any time to return the cursor to the leftmost characters in the party name.

Note the menu choices for the Party list screen: Show attorney information for the current party provides detailed attorney information. Show documents related to the current party provides access to documents linked to the party/case. Show the extended party name for the current party provides access to the box containing the supplementary party information. Change the way the party list is displayed is used to rearrange the Party list shown in the window. View information for this case provides access to coversheet information and to docketing and case management notes. Print a docket sheet is used to print the docket report.

SHOW ATTORNEY INFORMATION FOR THE CURRENT PARTY

This option will display information about the attorney of the highlighted party.

SHOW DOCUMENTS RELATED TO THE CURRENT PARTY

This option is used to show docketed events related to the currently highlighted party.

To return to the Docket Entries list after viewing the documents, press [Q] or [Esc].

SHOW THE EXTENDED PARTY NAME FOR THE CURRENT PARTY

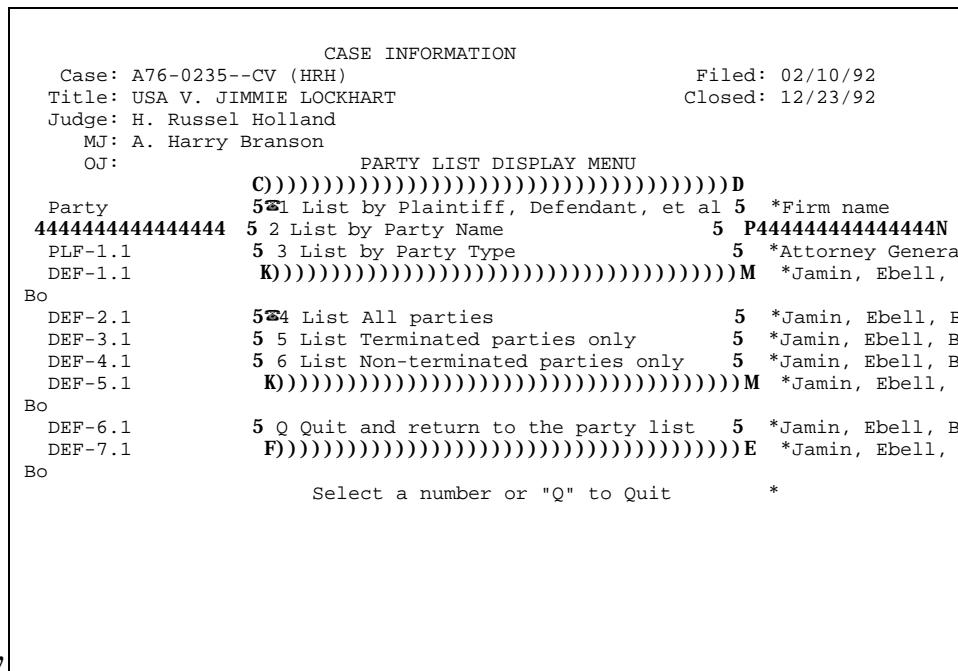

The option is used to show the list of secondary name(s), alias or aka of the current party if there is any. If no extended party name, the screen will look like the following:

Use Esc for page up, Esc N for page down and Esc Esc to go back to the party list.

CHANGE THE WAY THE PARTY LIST IS DISPLAYED

The default order for the Party list is all plaintiffs listed sequentially by party number first, then all defendants, and then each of the other party types. When there are many parties in a case, it may be more useful to list the parties alphabetically by name, or alphabetically by type. The menu option 4 Change the way the party list is displayed will show the parties in a different order.

To change the order of the Party list, press M to activate the menu then choose 4 Change the way the party list is displayed, and then choose the desired ordered from the List popup. The current List order can be determined by looking at the List popup: the current setting is indicated by a *****.

L i s t b y

Plaintiff, Defendant, et al is the default order as shown above, how the list initially appears; plaintiffs are listed first, then defendants, and then each of the other party types. If you have chosen a different order, you may use this option to return the list to its original order.

Party Name will alphabetize the list by Party Name. PACER alphabetizes from left to right, including special characters such as apostrophes, and does not distinguish between persons or objects such as marine vessels or land.

Here is the list in Party Name order:

Select Docket Sheet to display the Docket Sheet information window.

Press Tab to move from field to field among the report options. Use ↑ or ↓ key to highlight the option and hit Enter to select. The complete docket sheet report has two parts, either of which may be omitted; the first part is a list of parties and their attorneys, the second part is the list of docket entries. A docket entry starting date and/or ending date is optional; leaving the dates blank will allow printing of all docket entries. You may view the report in a window on the screen before printing it (or instead of printing it) by selecting the report destination. When the desired parameters are selected, press Enter to generate the docket sheet, or press Esc to cancel the report and return to the Docket Entries list.

If you choose to view the report before printing, it will appear in a window on the screen.

Since it is designed for a sheet of paper larger than the screen, the full report will not be visible in the window. Use ,, (), and () to move around in the window. Press ↓ to move to the end of the current line, and ↑ to move to the beginning of the current line. Press ↓ () to move to the end of the report, or ↑ () to move to the beginning of the report. If you do not need to print the report, press Esc to return to the Docket Entries list.

To print the report, press Print then select the appropriate printer option.

If you select 'Your Laser Printer' or 'Your Text Printer' option, the report will be printed to your personal printer.

If the report is going to be printed in a court printer, a box will pop-up on the screen with the total page count, cost per page and the total cost to print the page(s). The system will also prompt for your name. Please type in accordingly.

Appendix B. Glossary

Character	A letter, number, or symbol which is recorded when a key is pressed. A special character is any character which is not a letter or number, for example: % ? @.
Cursor	A single-character indicator on the screen, usually a blinking underline, that shows which data on the screen the next keystroke will affect.
Date Field	Field with a length of eight characters, in the format mm/dd/yy. The slashes are automatically included by the computer program.
Default	Pre-set response to a question or prompt. Default is automatically used by the computer if you don't supply a different response.
Dialog	Box on the screen that requests more information to complete a command or an expression.
Error Message	Text that appears on the screen to tell the user of a problem or error in the execution of a program or in the user's communication with the system. Often accompanied by a beep. Usually indicates what action should be taken to correct the problem.
Field	Particular type or category of information in a record. One or more fields make a record. Example: A Party record includes the fields Party Type, Party Number, and Party Name.
Function Key	Any of the keys labelled F1, F2, ..., F11, F12 on the computer keyboard.
Hot Key	A single key which, when pressed in a specific context, will cause a pre-defined action to occur. A hot key is used as a single-key command shortcut to accomplish a task which normally would require several keystrokes.
Initialize	Set a beginning state or value in preparation for some computation.
Interface	The point of communication between a person and a computer.
List	A set of items displayed on the screen. Items are selected from a displayed list.
Memo Field	A field used to hold large amounts of information. Memo fields are virtually unlimited in size and can include any letters, numbers, and punctuation symbols.
Parameter	Value given to a variable before an expression is evaluated by a command.
Popup	A window containing a list of available choices.
Query	A set of parameters posed as a question to obtain information.
Scroll	Move through the contents of a window so that different information becomes visible.
Toggle	A keystroke which, when pressed the first time, changes a value and when pressed a second time, returns the value to its original state.
Typeover Mode	Text-editing mode in which any character typed replaces the character currently at the cursor position. (See Insert Mode.)

Window

- 1) A rectangular display area on the screen in which information is presented. You can move/hide/change size/scroll/edit its contents.
- 2) Portion of a collection of information visible in a viewing area on the display screen.
